Event Report

The “Save Water” awareness programme organized by the UBA Cell holds immense significance as it sensitizes students and community members about the urgent need for sustainable utilization of natural resources. Through this programme, the UBA Cell fulfills its objective of community engagement and rural development by spreading awareness in the adopted village about water scarcity, climate change, and responsible water usage in daily life. The initiative empowers students to act as change agents, enabling them to educate

The 23rd Annual “Save Birds, Save Water Day” campaign was launched by the Dogra Degree College in collaboration with Dogra Sadar Sabha (DSS). The campaign was launched under the chairmanship of Gulchain Singh Charak, former Minister and president, DSS. Charak, in his address, passionately urged attendees to uphold and propagate the enduring Dogra tradition of profound compassion for all living creatures. He poignantly highlighted the plight of voiceless birds and animals, particularly during the approaching intense summer heat. He earnestly appealed to all citizens, educators and students across educational institutions to embrace a simple yet vital practice: placing water in earthen pots on their terraces, fences, rooftops and hanging traditional ‘chhikkus’ from tree branches in their lawns and gardens throughout the summer months. The DSS president emphasized that this act of kindness would not only provide much-needed respite for thirsty birds but will also help in the revival and propagation of the age old Dogra tradition of feeding grains and water to the birds before partaking the meals. Students representing various educational institutions, including Oriental Academy Higher Secondary School, Jammu Humanity Public School, Bassi Kalan, Dogra Degree College, Dogra College of Education, and Dogra Law College, Bari Brahmana, eloquently shared their perspectives through insightful talks and lectures.

Members of the management Committees of Shri Lakshmi Narayan Mandir, Gandhi Nagar, Makka Masjid Bhatindi and Bhatindi Welfare Committee also participated. The Programme was compared by renowned radio and TV artist Ravi Kant Sharma. Among others who were present during the event included former advocate General D C Raina, G A Khwaja, Arvinder Singh Amn, Lt. Gen. R K Sharma, Col Dr Virendra K Sahi, Gambhir Dev Singh Charak, Maj Gen Sunita Kapoor, Abdul Majid, Amanat Ali Shah, Dr Nasib Singh Manhas, Brig V S Dheman, Col Rajinder Singh, Lt Col O S Chauhan, Balwinder Singh, Dr
