The inauguration ceremony of the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan Cell was successfully organized at Government College Chamba today. The event was graced by the Chief Guest, Professor Rakesh Rathore, Principal of Government College Chamba, who shared his thoughts on the importance of rural development. The ceremony commenced with the traditional lighting of the lamp.

In his welcome address, Professor Rakesh Rathore remarked, "Unnat Bharat Abhiyan is not just a program, but an inspiration to work collectively for rural development. We need to use our knowledge and resources to bring about change in rural communities."

On this occasion, Dr. Kuldeep Raj delivered an inspiring lecture on "A Holistic Approach to Rural Development." He highlighted the challenges and opportunities in the overall development of rural India, emphasizing the significance of economic growth, education, healthcare, and environmental sustainability. He stressed that mere education is not enough, and that skill development is equally important.

Vijay Kumar, the Nodal Officer of the Unnat Bharat Abhiyan Cell, provided a detailed overview of the objectives and significance of the program. He explained that this is a key initiative of the Ministry of Education, Government of India, aimed at fostering development in rural areas. He emphasized that this campaign acts as a bridge connecting higher educational institutions with rural communities, enabling collaboration in education and development.

The event was also attended by special guests including Professor Avinash, Dr. Shelly Mahajan, Dr. Sachin, Ankita Dhawan, Dr. Santosh Kumari, Dr. Pawan Kumar, and Dr. Pankaj, who contributed significantly to the success of the event.

All faculty members and students enthusiastically participated in the event and engaged in discussions on various aspects of rural development.
